A Digital Anthology of Early Modern English Drama

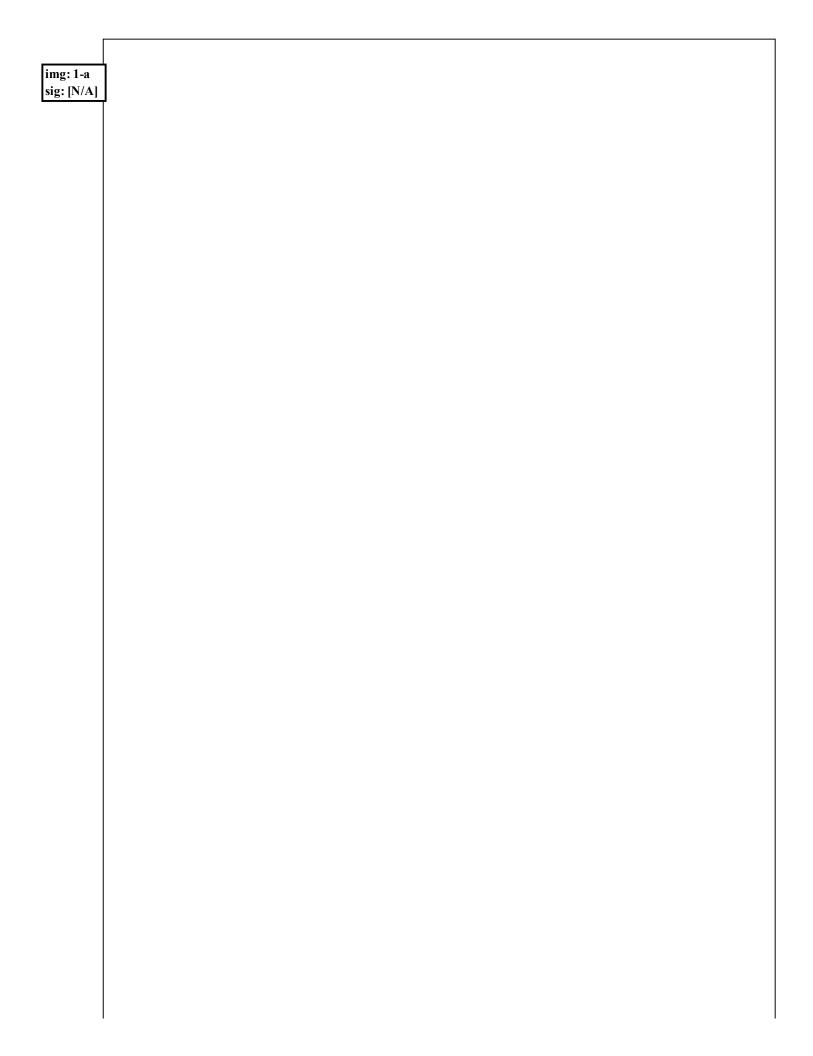

emed.folger.edu

Discover over four hundred early modern English plays that were professionally performed in London between 1576 and 1642. Browse plays written by Shakespeare's contemporaries; explore the repertoires of London's professional companies; and download plays for reading and research.

This documentary edition has been edited to provide an accurate and transparent transcription of a single copy of the earliest surviving print edition of this play. Further material, including editorial policy and XML files of the play, is available on the EMED website. EMED texts are edited and encoded by Meaghan Brown, Michael Poston, and Elizabeth Williamson, and build on work done by the EEBO-TCP and the Shakespeare His Contemporaries project. This project is funded by a Humanities Collections and Reference Resources grant from the NEH's Division of Preservation and Access.

The Prologue.

The doubtful Title (Gentlemen) prefixt
Vpon the Argument we have in hand,
May breede suspence, and wrongfully disturbe
The peacefull quiet of your setled thoughts:
To stop which scruple, let this briefe suffise.
It is no pamperd glutton we present,
Nor aged Councellor to youthfull sinne,
But one, whose vertue shone aboue the rest,
A valiant Martyr, and a vertuous peere,
In whose true faith and loyaltie exprest
Vnto his soveraigne, and his countries weale:
We strive to pay that tribute of our Loue,
Your favours merite, let faire Truth be grac'te,
Since forg'de invention former time defac'te.

The true and honorable Historie, of the life of Sir Iohn Oldcastle, the good Lord Cobham.

In the fight, enter the Sheriffe and two of his men.

Sheriffe.

MY Lords, I charge ye in his Highnesse name,

To keepe the peace, you, and your followers.

Herb. Good M. Sheriffe, look vnto your self.

Pow. Do so, for we have other businesse.

Proffer to fight againe

Sher. Will ye disturbe the Iudges, and the Assise?

Heare the Kings proclamation ye were best.

Pow. Hold then, lets heare it.

Herb. But be briefe, ye were best.

Bayl. O yes.

Dauy Cossone, make shorter O, or shall marre your Yes.

Bay. O yes.

Owen What, has her nothing to say but O yes?

Bay. O yes.

Da. O nay, pye Cosse plut downe with her, down with her,

A Pawesse a Pawesse.

In this fight, the Bailiffe is knocked downe, and the Sheriffe and the other runne away.

Herb. Powesse, I thinke thy Welsh and thou do smart.

Pow. Herbert, I thinke my sword came neere thy heart.

Herb. Thy hearts best bloud shall pay the losse of mine.

Gough A Herbert a Herbert.

Dauy A Pawesse a Pawesse.

As they are lifting their weapons, enter the Maior of Hereford, and his Officers and Townes-men with clubbes.

Maior My Lords, as you are liege men to the Crowne,

True noblemen, and subjects to the King,

Attend his Highnesse proclamation,

Commaunded by the Iudges of Assise,

For keeping peace at this assemblie.

Herb. Good M. Maior of Hereford be briefe.

wln 0114	Weele talke with them, when the Assise is done,
wln 0115	Riotous, audacious, and vnruly Groomes,
wln 0116	Must we be forced to come from the Bench,
wln 0117	To quiet brawles, which euery Constable
wln 0118	In other ciuill places can suppresse?
wln 0119	2. Iudge What was the quarrel that causde all this stirre?
wln 0120	Sher. About religion (as I heard) my Lord.
wln 0121	Lord Powesse detracted from the power of Rome,
wln 0122	Affirming Wickliffes doctrine to be true,
wln 0123	And Romes erroneous: hot reply was made wln 0124	By the lord Herbert, they were traytors all
wln 0125	That would maintaine it: Powesse answered,
wln 0126	They were as true, as noble, and as wise
wln 0127	As he, that would defend it with their liues,
wln 0128	He namde for instance sir Iohn Old-castle
wln 0129	The Lord Cobham: Herbert replide againe, wln 0130	He, thou, and all are traitors that so hold.
wln 0131	The lie was giuen, the seuerall factions drawne,
wln 0132	And so enragde, that we could not appease it.
wln 0133	1. Iudge This case concernes the Kings prerogatiue, wln 0134	And's dangerous to the State and common wealth.
wln 0135	Gentlemen, Iustices, master Maior, and master Shrieue,
wln 0136	It doth behoue vs all, and each of vs
wln 0137	In generall and particular, to haue care
wln 0138	For the suppressing of all mutinies,
wln 0139	And all assemblies, except souldiers musters
wln 0140	For the Kings preparation into France.
wln 0141	We heare of secret conuenticles made,
wln 0142	And there is doubt of some conspiracies,
wln 0143	Which may breake out into rebellious armes
wln 0144	When the King's gone, perchance before he go:
wln 0145	Note as an instance, this one perillous fray,
wln 0146	What factions might haue growne on either part,

wln 0150	We therefore from his Highnesse giue this charge.
wln 0151	You maister Maior, looke to your citizens,
wln 0152	You maister Sherife vnto your shire, and you

wln 0164	Enter Suffolke, Bishop of Rochester, Butler, parson of Wrotham.
wln 0165	Suffolke Now my lord Bishop, take free liberty
wln 0166	To speake your minde: what is your sute to vs?
wln 0167	Bishop My noble Lord, no more than what you know, wln 0168	And haue bin oftentimes inuested with:
wln 0169	Grieuous complaints haue past betweene the lippes
wln 0170	Of enuious persons to vpbraide the Cleargy,
wln 0171	Some carping at the liuings which we haue,
wln 0172	And others spurning at the ceremonies
wln 0173	That are of auncient custome in the church.

Playne heretikes, Ile stand toote to their teeth,

Should have to colour, their vile practises,

A title of such worth, as Protestant?

enter one wyth a letter.

Suf. O but you must not sweare, it ill becomes

One of your coate, to rappe out bloudy oathes.

Bish. Pardon him good my Lord, it is his zeale,

An honest country prelate, who laments

To see such foule disorder in the church.

Sir Iohn Theres one they call him Sir Iohn Old-castle,

He has not his name for naught: for like a castle

Doth he encompasse them within his walls,

But till that castle be subuerted quite,

We ne're shall be at quiet in the realme.

Bish. That is our sute, my Lord, that he be tane,

And brought in question for his heresie,

Beside, two letters brought me out of Wales,

Wherin my Lord Herford writes to me,

What tumult and sedition was begun,

About the Lord Cobham, at the Sises there,

For they had much ado to calme the rage,

And that the valiant Herbert is there slaine.

Suf. A fire that must be quencht; wel, say no more,

The King anon goes to the counsell chamber,

There to debate of matters touching France:

As he doth passe by, Ile informe his grace

Concerning your petition: Master Butler,

If I forget, do you remember me,

But. I will my Lord.

Offer him a purse.

Bish. Not for a recompence,

But as a token of our loue to you,

By me my Lords of the cleargie do present

This purse, and in it full a thousand Angells,

Praying your Lordship to accept their gift.

Suf.

Suf. I thanke them, my Lord Bishop, for their loue, But will not take their mony, if you please To giue it to this gentleman, you may. Bish. Sir, then we craue your furtherance herein. But. The best I can my Lord of Rochester. Bish. Nay, pray ye take it, trust me but you shal, sir Iohn Were ye all three vpon New Market heath, You should not neede straine curtsie who should ha'te, Sir Iohn would quickely rid ye of that care. The very first thing I will breake with him, Shal be about your matter. Enter K. Harry and Hunting-
Har. My Lord of Suffolke, ton in talke.
Was it not saide the Cleargy did refuse
To lend vs mony toward our warres in France?
Suf. It was my Lord, but very wrongfully.
Har. I know it was, for Huntington here tells me,
They have bin very bountifull of late.
Suf. And still they vow my gracious Lord to be so,
Hoping your maiestie will thinke of them,
As of your louing subjects, and suppresse All such malitious errors as begin
To spot their calling, and disturb the church.
Har. God else forbid: why Suffolke, is there Any new rupture to disquiet them?
Suf. No new my Lord, the old is great enough,
And so increasing, as if not cut downe,
Will breede a scandale to your royall state,
And set your Kingdome quickely in an vproare,
The Kentish knight, Lord Cobham, in despight
Of any law, or spirituall discipline,
Maintaines this vpstart new religion still,
And diuers great assemblies by his meanes
And private quarrells, are commenst abroad,
As by this letter more at large my liege,
Is made apparant.

wln 0257	Har. We do find it here,
wln 0258	There was in Wales a certaine fray of late,
wln 0259	Betweene two noblemen, but what of this?
wln 0260	Followes it straight Lord Cobham must be he wln 0261	Did cause the same? I dare be sworne (good knight)
wln 0262	He neuer dreampt of any such contention.
wln 0263	Bish. But in his name the quarrell did begin,
wln 0264	About the opinion which he held (my liege.)
wln 0265	Har. How if it did? was either he in place, wln 0266	To take part with them, or abette them in it?
wln 0267	If brabling fellowes, whose inkindled bloud,
wln 0268	Seethes in their fiery vaines, will needes go fight,
wln 0269	Making their quarrells of some words that passt,
wln 0270	Either of you, or you, amongst their cuppes,
wln 0271	Is the fault yours, or are they guiltie of it?
wln 0272	Suffolke With pardon of your Highnesse (my dread lord)

 There be more stockes to set poore soldiers in,
 Than there be houses to releeue them at.

Old man Faith, housekeeping decayes in euery place, Euen as Saint Peter writ, still worse and worse

- 4 Maister maior of Rochester has giuen commaundement, that none shall goe abroade out of the parish, and they haue set an order downe forsooth, what euery poore housholder must giue towards our reliefe: where there be some ceased I may say to you, had almost as much neede to beg as we.
 - 1 It is a hard world the while.

Old man If a poore man come to a doore to aske for Gods sake, they aske him for a licence, or a certificate from a Iustice.

- 2 Faith we have none, but what we beare vppon our bodies, our maimed limbs, God help vs.
- 4 And yet, as lame as I am, Ile with the king into France, if I can crawle but a ship-boorde, I hadde rather be slaine in France, than starue in England.

Olde man. Ha, were I but as lusty as I was at the battell of Shrewsbury, I would not doe as I do: but we are now come to the good lord Cobhams, to the best man to the poore that wln 0366	4 God blesse him, there be but few such.

wln 0367	Enter Lord Cobham with Harpoole.
wln 0368	Cob. Thou peeuish froward man, what wouldst thou haue?)
wln 0369	Harp. This pride, this pride, brings all to beggarie, wln 0370	I seru'de your father, and your grandfather,
wln 0371	Shew me such two men now: no, no,
wln 0372	Your backes, your backes, the diuell and pride,
wln 0373	Has cut the throate of all good housekeeping,
wln 0374	They were the best Yeomens masters, that wln 0375	Euer were in England.
wln 0376	Cob. Yea, except thou haue a crue of seely knaues,
wln 0377	And sturdy rogues, still feeding at my gate,
wln 0378	There is no hospitalitie with thee.
wln 0379	Harp. They may sit at the gate well enough, but the diuell wln 0380	of any thing you giue them, except they will eate stones.
wln 0381	Cob. Tis long then of such hungry knaues as you,	pointing

wln 0384	Old. God blesse your honour, God saue the good Lord
wln 0385	Cobham, and all his house,
wln 0386	Soul. Good your honour, bestow your blessed almes,
wln 0387	Vpon poore men.
wln 0388	Cob. Now sir, here be your Almes knights.
wln 0389	Now are you as safe as the Emperour.
wln 0390	Harp. My Almes knights: nay, th'are yours,
wln 0391	It is a shame for you, and Ile stand too't,
wln 0392	Your foolish almes maintaines more vagabonds,
wln 0393	Then all the noblemen in Kent beside.
wln 0394	Out you rogues, you knaues, worke for your liuings,
wln 0395	Alas poore men, O Lord, they may beg their hearts out,
wln 0396	Theres no more charitie amongst men,
wln 0397	Then amongst so many mastiffe dogges,

Nay, nay, they know thee well enough, I thinke that all the beggars in this land are thy acquaintance, goe bestowe your almes, none will controule you sir.

What should I give them? you are growne so beggarly, you have scarce a bitte of breade to give at your doore: you talke of your religion so long, that you have banished charitie from amongst you, a man may make a flaxe shop in your kitchin chimnies, for any fire there is stirring.

If thou wilt give them nothing, send them hence, Cobham let them not stand here staruing in the colde.

Who I driue them hence? if I driue poore men from your doore, Ile be hangd, I know not what I may come to my selfe: yea, God help you poore knaues, ye see the world yfaith, well, you had a mother: well, God be with thee good Lady, thy soule's at rest: she gaue more in shirts and smocks to poore children, then you spend in your house, & yet you liue a beggar too.

Cobham Euen the worst deede that ere my mother did, was in releeuing such a foole as thou.

Harpoole Yea, yea, I am a foole still, with all your wit you will die a beggar, go too.

Go you olde foole, give the poore people something, go in poore men into the inner court, and take such alms as there is to be had.

God blesse your honor. Souldier

Harpoole Hang you roags, hang you, theres nothing but misery amongst you, you feare no law you.

Olde man God blesse you good maister Rafe, God saue your life, you are good to the poore still.

Enter the Lord Powes disguised, and shrowde himselfe.

Cobham What fellow's yonder comes along the groue? Few passengers there be that know this way:

Me thinkes he stops as though he stayd for me,

And meant to shrowd himselfe amongst the bushes.

I know the Cleargie hate me to the death,

And my religion gets me many foes:

Cobham I hope no man was violently slaine.

Powis Faith none I trust, but the lord Herberts selfe,

Who is in truth so dangerously hurt,

As it is doubted he can hardly scape.

Cobham I am sory, my good lord, of these ill newes.

Powis This is the cause that drives me into Kent,

To shrowd my selfe with you so good a friend,

Vntill I heare how things do speed at home.

Cobham Your lordship is most welcome vnto Cobham,

But I am very sory, my good lord,

My name was brought in question in this matter,

Considering I haue many enemies,

That threaten malice, and do lie in waite

To take aduantange of the smallest thing.

But you are welcome, and repose your lordship,

And keepe your selfe here secret in my house,

Vntill we heare how the lord Herbert speedes:

Here comes my man.

Enter Harpoole.

Sirra, what newes?

Harpoole Yonders one maister Butler of the priuie chamber, is sent vnto you from the King.

Powis I pray God the lord Herbert be not dead, and the King hearing whither I am gone, hath sent for me.

Cob. Comfort your selfe my lord, I warrant you.

Harpoole Fellow, what ailes thee? doost thou quake? dost thou shake? dost thou tremble? ha?

Cob. Peace you old foole, sirra, conuey this gentleman in the backe way, and bring the other into the walke.

heard of something from the King, about this matter.

Enter Harpoole with Maister Butler.

Harpoole Sir, yonder my lord walkes, you see him, Ile haue your men into the Celler the while.

Cobh. welcome good maister Butler.

Butler Thankes, my good lord: his Maiestie dooth commend his loue vnto your lordship, and wils you to repaire vnto the court.

Cobh. God blesse his Highnesse, and confound his ennemies, I hope his Maiestie is well.

Butler In health, my lord.

Cobh. God long continue it: mee thinkes you looke as though you were not well, what ailes you sir?

Butler Faith I haue had a foolish odde mischance, that angers mee: comming ouer Shooters hill, there came a fellow to me like a Sailer, and asked me money, and whilst I staide my horse to draw my purse, he takes th'aduantage of a little banck and leapes behind me, whippes my purse away, and with a sodaine ierke I know not how, threw me at least three yards out of my saddle. I neuer was so robbed in all my life.

Cobh. I am very sorie sir for your mischance, wee will send our warrant foorth, to stay such suspitious persons as shal be found, then maister Butler, we wil attend you.

Butler I humbly thanke your lordship, I will attend you. Enter the Sumner.

Sum. I have the law to warrant what I do, and though the Lord Cobham be a noble man, that dispenses not with law, I dare serue processe were a fiue noble men, though we Sumners make sometimes a mad slip in a corner with a prettie wench, a Sumner must not goe alwayes by seeing, a manne may be content to hide his eies, where he may feele his profit: well, this is my Lord Cobhams house, if I can deuise to speake with him, if not, Ile clap my citation vpon's doore, so my lord of Rochester bid me, but me thinkes here comes one of his men.

Enter Harpoole.

Harp. Welcome good fellow, welcome, who wouldst thou speake

speake with?

Sum. With my lord Cobham, I would speake, if thou be one of his men.

Harp. Yes I am one of his men, but thou canst not speake with my lord.

Sum. May I send to him then?

Harp. Ile tel thee that, when I know thy errand.

Sum. I will not tel my errand to thee.

Harp. Then keepe it to thy selfe, and walke like a knaue as thou camest.

Sum. I tell thee my lord keepes no knaues, sirra.

Harp. Then thou seruest him not, I beleeue, what lord is thy master?

Sum. My lord of Rochester.

Harp. In good time, and what wouldst thou have with my lord Cobham?

Sum. I come by vertue of a processe, to ascite him to appeare before my lord, in the court at Rochester.

Harp aside. Wel, God grant me patience, I could eate this conger. My lord is not at home, therefore it were good Sumner you caried your processe backe.

Sum. Why, if he will not be spoken withall, then will I leaue it here, and see you that he take knowledge of it.

Harp. Swounds you slaue, do you set vp your bills here, go to, take it downe againe, doest thou know what thou dost, dost thee know on whom thou seruest processe?

Sum. Yes marry doe I, Sir Iohn Old-castle Lord Cobham.

Harp. I am glad thou knowest him yet, and sirra dost not thou know, that the lord Cobham is a braue lord, that keepes good beefe and beere in his house, and euery day feedes a hundred poore people at's gate, and keepes a hundred tall fellowes?

Sum. Whats that to my processe?

Harp. Mary this sir, is this processe parchment?

Sum. Yes mary.

Sum. It is so.

Harp. If this be parchment, & this wax, eate you this parchment, and this waxe, or I will make parchment of your skinne, and beate your braines into waxe: Sirra Sumner dispatch, deuoure, sirra deuoure.

Sum. I am my lord of Rochesters Sumner, I came to do my office, and thou shalt answere it.

Harp. Sirra, no railing, but betake you to your teeth, thou shalt eate no worse then thou bringst with thee, thou bringst it for my lord, and wilt thou bring my lord worse then thou wilt eate thy selfe?

Sum. Sir, I brought it not my lord to eate.

Harp. O do you sir me now, all's one for that, but ile make you eate it, for bringing it.

Sum. I cannot eate it.

Harp. Can you not? sbloud ile beate you vntil you haue a stomacke. he beates him.

Sum. O hold, hold, good master seruing-man, I will eate it.

Harp. Be champping, be chawing sir, or Ile chaw you, you rogue, the purest of the hony.

Sum. Tough waxe, is the purest of the hony.

Harp. O Lord sir, oh oh,

he eates.

Feed, feed, wholsome rogue, wholsome.

Cannot you like an honest Sumner walke with the diuell your brother, to fetch in your Bailiffes rents, but you must come to a noble mans house with processe? Sbloud if thy seale were as broad as the lead that couers Rochester church, thou shouldst eate it.

Sum. O I am almost choaked, I am almost choaked.

Harp. Who's within there? wil you shame my Lord, is there no beere in the house? Butler I say.

But. Heere, here.

Enter Butler.

Harp. Giue him Beere.

he drinkes.

There, tough old sheepskins, bare drie meate.

Sum. O sir, let me go no further, Ile eate my word.

Doll to the Priest I pray thee sweet heart be quiet, I was but sitting to drinke a pot of ale with him, euen as kinde a man as euer I met with.

Harp. Thou art a theefe I warrant thee.

Wroth. Then I am but as thou hast beene in thy dayes, lets not be ashamed of our trade, the King has beene a theefe himselfe.

Doll Come, be quiet, hast thou sped?

Wroth. I have wench, here be crownes if aith.

Doll Come, lets be all friends then.

Constable Well said mistris Dorothy if aith.

Harp. Thou art the madst priest that euer I met with.

Wroth. Giue me thy hand, thou art as good a fellow, I am a singer, a drinker, a bencher, a wencher, I can say a masse, and kisse a lasse: faith I haue a parsonage, and bicause I would not be at too much charges, this wench serues me for a sexton.

Harp. Well said mad priest, weele in and be friends, exeunt.

Enter sir Roger Acton, master Bourne, master Beuerley, and William Murley the brewer of Dunstable.

Acton Now maister Murley, I am well assurde You know our arrant, and do like the cause, Being a man affected as we are?

Mu. Mary God dild ye daintie my deere, no master, good Sr Roger Acton Knight, maister Bourne, and maister Beuerley esquires, gentlemen, and iustices of the peace, no maister I, but plaine William Murly the brewer of Dunstable your honest neighbour, and your friend, if ye be men of my profession.

Beuerley Professed friends to Wickliffe, foes to Rome.

Murl. Hold by me lad, leane vpon that staffe good maister Beuerley, all of a house, say your mind, say your mind.

Acton You know our faction now is growne so great, Throughout the realme; that it beginnes to smoake Into the Cleargies eies, and the Kings eares,

High time it is that we were drawne to head, Our generall and officers appoynted. And warres ye wot will aske great store of coine. Able to strength our action with your purse, You are elected for a colonell Ouer a regiment of fifteene bands.

Murley Fue paltrie paltrie, in and out, to and fro, be it more or lesse, vppon occasion, Lorde haue mercie vppon vs, what a world is this? Sir Roger Acton, I am but a Dunstable man, a plaine brewer, ye know: will lusty Caualiering captaines gentlemen come at my calling, goe at my bidding? Daintie my deere, theile doe a dogge of waxe, a horse of cheese, a pricke and a pudding, no, no, ye must appoint some lord or knight at least to that place.

Bourne Why master Murley, you shall be a Knight: Were you not in election to be shrieue? Haue ye not past all offices but that? Haue ye not wealth to make your wife a lady? I warrant you, my lord, our Generall Bestowes that honor on you at first sight.

Murley Mary God dild ye daintie my deare:

But tell me, who shalbe our Generall?
Wheres the lord Cobham, sir Iohn Old-castle,
That noble almes-giuer, housekeeper, vertuous,
Religious gentleman? Come to me there boies,
Come to me there.

Acton Why who but he shall be our Generall?

Murley And shall he knight me, and make me colonell?

Acton My word for that, sir William Murley knight.

Murley Fellow sir Roger Acton knight, all fellowes, I meane in armes, how strong are we? how many partners? our enemies beside the King are mightie, be it more or lesse vpon occasion, reckon our force.

Of either traitor, or of heretike.

Har. Forbeare I say, and Bishop, shew the cause From whence this late abuse hath bin deriu'de, Bish. Thus mightie King, by generall consent,

A messenger was sent to cite this Lord,

To make appearance in the consistorie,

And comming to his house, a ruffian slaue,

One of his daily followers, met the man,

Who knowing him to be a parator,

Assaults him first, and after in contempt

Of vs, and our proceedings, makes him eate

The written processe, parchment, seale and all:

Whereby his maister neither was brought forth,

Nor we but scornd, for our authoritie.

Har. When was this done?

Bish. At sixe a clocke this morning.

Har. And when came you to court?

Cob. Last night my Lord.

Har. By this it seemes, he is not guilty of it,

And you have done him wrong t'accuse him so.

Bish. But it was done my lord by his appointment,

Or else his man durst ne're haue bin so bold.

Har. Or else you durst be bold, to interrupt,

And fill our eares with friuolous complaints,

Is this the duetie you do beare to vs?

Was't not sufficient we did passe our word

To send for him, but you misdoubting it,

Or which is worse, intending to forestall

Our regall power, must likewise summon him?

But will ye not take Cowling for your host,

And see what entertainement it affordes?

Camb. We were intended to haue beene your guests:

But now this lucky meeting shall suffise

To end our businesse, and deferre that kindnesse.

Cobh. Businesse my lord? what businesse should you have

But to be mery? we have no delicates,

But this Ile promise you, a peece of venison,

A cup of wine, and so forth: hunters fare:

And if you please, weele strike the stagge our selues

Shall fill our dishes with his wel-fed flesh.

Scroope That is indeede the thing we all desire.

Cobh. My lordes, and you shall have your choice with me.

Camb. Nay but the stagge which we desire to strike,

Liues not in Cowling: if you will consent,

And goe with vs, weele bring you to a forrest,

Cobh. Notorious treason! yet I will conceale	aside
My secret thoughts, to sound the depth of it.
My lord of Cambridge, I doe see your claime,
And what good may redound vnto the land,
By prosecuting of this enterprise.
But where are men? where's power and furniture
To order such an action? we are weake,
Harry, you know's a mighty potentate.
Camb. Tut, we are strong enough, you are belou'de,
And many will be glad to follow you,
VVe are the light, and some will follow vs:
Besides, there is hope from France: heres an embassador
That promiseth both men and money too.
The commons likewise (as we heare) pretend
A sodaine tumult, we wil ioyne with them.
Cobh. Some likelihoode, I must confesse, to speede:
But how shall I believe this is plaine truth?
You are (my lords) such men as liue in Court,
And highly haue beene fauour'd of the king,
Especially lord Scroope, whome oftentimes
He maketh choice of for his bedfellow.
And you lord Gray are of his priuy councell:
Is not this a traine to intrappe my life?
Camb. Then perish may my soule: what thinke you so?
Scroope VVeele sweare to you.
Gray Or take the sacrament.
Cobh. Nay you are noble men, and I imagine,
As you are honorable by birth and bloud,
So you will be in heart, in thought, in word.
I craue no other testimony but this.
That you would all subscribe, and set your hands
Vnto this writing which you gaue to me.
Camb. VVith all our hearts: who hath any pen and inke?
Scroope My pocket should have one: yea, heere it is.
Camb. Giue it me lord Scroope: there is my name.
Scroope And there is my name.

With him a woman, I was al alone,
And weaponlesse, my boy had al my tooles,
And was before prouiding me a boate:
Short tale to make, sir Iohn, the thiefe I meane,
Tooke a iust hundreth pound in gold from me.
I storm'd at it, and [.....] [...] be reueng'de
If ere we met, he like a [.....] [...] efe,
Brake with his teeth this Ang[...] [.]ust in two,
To be a token at our meeting next,
Prouided, I should charge no Officer
To apprehend him, but at weapons point
Recouer that, and what he had beside.
Well met sir Iohn, betake ye to your tooles
By torch light, for master parson you are he
That had my gold.

sir Iohn Zounds I won't in play, in faire square play of the keeper of Eltham parke, and that I will maintaine with this poore whinyard, be you two honest men to stand and looke vpon's, and let's alone, and take neither part.

Here as they are ready to strike, enter Butler and drawes his weapon and steps betwixt them.

But. Hold villaines hold, my Lords, what do ye meane, To see a traitor draw against the King?

sir Iohn The King! Gods wil, I am in a proper pickle.

Har. Butler what newes? why dost thou trouble vs?

But. Please it your Highnesse, it is breake of day,

And as I skouted neere to Islington,

The gray eyed morning gaue me glimmering,

Of armed men comming downe Hygate hill,

Who by their course are coasting hitherward.

Har. Let vs withdraw, my Lords, prepare our troopes, To charge the rebels, if there be such cause,

For this lewd priest this diuellish hypocrite, sir Iohn Not so my gracious soueraigne, I confesse I am a frayle man, flesh and bloud as other are: but set my imperfections aside, by this light ye haue not a taller man, nor a truer subject to the Crowne and State, than sir I[] of VVrootham.

Har. Wil a true subject robbe his King?

sir Iohn Alas twas ignorance and want, my gracious liege.

Har. Twas want of grace: why, you should be as salt

To season others with good document,

Your liues as lampes to give the people light,

As shepheards, not as wolues to spoile the flock,

Go hang hm Butler.

But. Didst thou not rob me?

sir Iohn I must confesse I saw some of your gold, but my dread Lord, I am in no humor for death, therfore saue my life, God will that sinners liue; do not you cause me die, once in their liues the best may goe astray, and if the world say true, your selfe (my liege) haue bin a thiefe.

Har. I confesse I haue,

But I repent and haue reclaimd my selfe.

sir Iohn So will I do if you will giue me time.

Har. Wilt thou? my lords, will you be his suerties?

Hunt. That when he robs againe, he shall be hang'd.

sir Iohn I aske no more.

Har. And we will grant thee that,

Liue and repent, and proue an honest man,

Which when I heare, and safe returne from France,

Ile giue thee liuing, till when take thy gold,

But spend it better then at cards or wine.

Sir Roger Acton, thou retainst the name Of knight, and shouldst be more discreetly temperd, Than ioyne with peasants, gentry is diuine, But thou hast made it more then popular.

Act. Pardon my Lord, my conscience vrg'd me to it,
Har: Thy conscience? then thy conscience is corrupt,
For in thy conscience thou art bound to vs,
And in thy conscience thou shouldst loue thy country,
Else whats the difference twixt a Christian,
And the vnciuil manners of the Turke?

Beuer. We meant no hurt vnto your maiesty, But reformation of Religion.

Har: Reforme Religion? was it that ye sought? I pray who gaue you that authority? If he acquite me not, then do your worst.

Bish. We are not bound to do kind offices
For any traitor, schismatike, nor heretike,
The kings hand is our warrant for our worke,
Who is departed on his way for France,

And at Southhampton doth repose this night.

Harp O that it were the blessed will of God, that thou and I were within twenty mile of it, on Salisbury plaine! I would lose my head if euer thou broughtst thy head hither againe.

aside.

Oldca. My Lord Warden o'th cinque Ports, & my Lord of Rochester, ye are ioynt Commissioners, fauor me so much, On my expence to bring me to the king.

Bish. What, to Southhampton?

Oldca. Thither my god Lord,

And if he do not cleere me of al guilt,

And all suspition of conspiracie,

Pawning his princely warrant for my truth:

I aske no fauour, but extreamest torture.

Bring me, or send me to him, good my Lord,

Good my Lord Warden, M Shrieue, entreate.

Here the Lord Warden, and Cromer vncouer to the Bishop, and secretly whispers with him.

Come hither lady, nay, sweet wife forbeare,

To heape one sorrow on anothers necke,

Tis griefe enough falsly to be accusde,

And not permitted to acquite my selfe,

Do not thou with thy kind respective teares,

Torment thy husbands heart that bleedes for thee,

But be of comfort, God hath help in store,

For those that put assured trust in him.

Deere wife, if they commit me to the Tower,

Come vp to London to your sisters house:

That being neere me, you may comfort me.

One solace find I setled in my soule,

That I am free from treasons very thought,

Ostler A murrein choake you, what a bawling you keepe.

Hoste How now, what woulde the carrier haue? looke vp there.

Ostler They say that the man and woman that lay by them have stolne their clothes.

Hoste VVhat, are the strange folkes vp yet that came in yester night?

Const. VVhat mine hoste, vp so early?

Hoste VVhat, maister Maior, and maister Constable!

Maior VVe are come to seeke for some suspected persons, and such as heere we found, haue apprehended.

Enter the Carrier and Kate in lord Cobham and ladies apparell.

Con. VVho comes heere?

Club VVho comes here? a plague found ome, you bawle quoth a, ods hat, Ile forzweare your house, you lodgde a fellow and his wife by vs that ha runne away with our parrel, and left vs such gew-gawes here, come Kate, come to mee, thowse dizeard yfaith.

Maior Mine hoste, know you this man?

Hoste Yes maister Maior, Ile giue my word for him, why neibor Club, how comes this geare about?

Kate Now a fowle ont, I can not make this gew-gaw stand on my head, now the lads and the lasses won flowt me too too

Const. How came this man and woman thus attired?

Hoste Here came a man and woman hither this last night, which I did take for substantiall people, and lodgde all in one chamber by these folkes: mee thinkes, haue beene so bolde to change apparell, and gone away this morning ere they rose.

Maior That was that villaine traitour Old-castle, that thus escaped vs: make out huy and cry yet after him, keepe fast that traiterous rebell his seruant there: farewell mine hoste.

Oldca. Come Madam, happily escapt, here let vs sit, This place is farre remote from any path, And here awhile our weary limbs may rest, To take refreshing, free from the pursuite Of enuious Winchester.

Lady But where (my Lord,)
Shall we find rest for our disquiet minds?
There dwell vntamed thoughts that hardly stoupe,
To such abasement of disdained rags,
We were not wont to trauell thus by night,
Especially on foote.

Oldca. No matter loue,
Extremities admit no better choice,
And were it not for thee, say froward time,
Imposde a greater taske, I would esteeme it
As lightly as the wind that blowes vpon vs,
But in thy sufferance I am doubly taskt,
Thou wast not wont to haue the earth thy stoole,
Nor the moist dewy grasse thy pillow, nor Thy chamber to be the wide horrison,
Lady How can it seeme a trouble, hauing you
A partner with me, in the worst I feele?

No

wln 2415	To death it selfe, should he now seaze vpon me, wln 2416	Behold what my foresight hath vndertane heres bread and
wln 2417	For feare we faint, they are but homely cates, cheese & a bottle.
wln 2418	Yet saucde with hunger, they may seeme as sweete,
wln 2419	As greater dainties we were wont to taste.
wln 2420	Oldca. Praise be to him whose plentie sends both this,
wln 2421	And all things else our mortall bodies need,
wln 2422	Nor scorne we this poore feeding, nor the state
wln 2423	We now are in, for what is it on earth, wln 2630 This bloudy towell, and these naked kniues, wln 2631 Beside we found them sitting by the place, wln 2632 Where the dead body lay within a bush. wln 2633 Iudge VVhat answer you why law should not proceed, wln 2634 According to this euidence given in, wln 2635 To taxe ye with the penalty of death? wln 2636 That we are free from murders very thought, wln 2637 And know not how the gentleman was slaine. wln 2638 1 Iust. How came this linnen cloth so boudy then? wln 2639 Lady Cob. My husband hot with trauelling my lord, wln 2640 His nose gusht out a bleeding, that was it. wln 2641 But wherefore were your sharpe edgde kniues vn-2 Iust. wln 2642 Lady Cob. To cut such simple victual as we had. wln 2643 Say we admit this answer to those articles, wln 2644 VVhat made ye in so priuate a darke nooke, wln 2645 So far remote from any common path, wln 2646 As was the thicke where the dead corpes was throwne? wln 2647 Old. Iournying my lord from London from the terme, Downe into Lancashire where we do dwell, wln 2648 wln 2649 And what with age and trauell being faint, wln 2650 VVe gladly sought a place where we might rest, Free from resort of other passengers, wln 2651 wln 2652 And so we strayed into that secret corner. wln 2653 Iudge These are but ambages to drive of time, wln 2654 And linger Iustice from her purposde end. wln 2655 But who are these? wln 2656 Enter the Constable, bringing in the Irishman, sir Iohn of Wrotham, and Doll wln 2657 wln 2658 Stay Iudgement, and release those innocents, Const. wln 2659 For here is hee, whose hand hath done the deed, wln 2660 For which they stand indited at the barre, wln 2661 This sauage villaine, this rude Irish slaue, wln 2662 His tongue already hath confest the fact, wln 2663 And here is witnes to confirme as much. wln 2664 Yes my good Lords, no sooner had he slaine wln 2665 His louing master for the wealth he had,
