A Digital Anthology of Early Modern English Drama

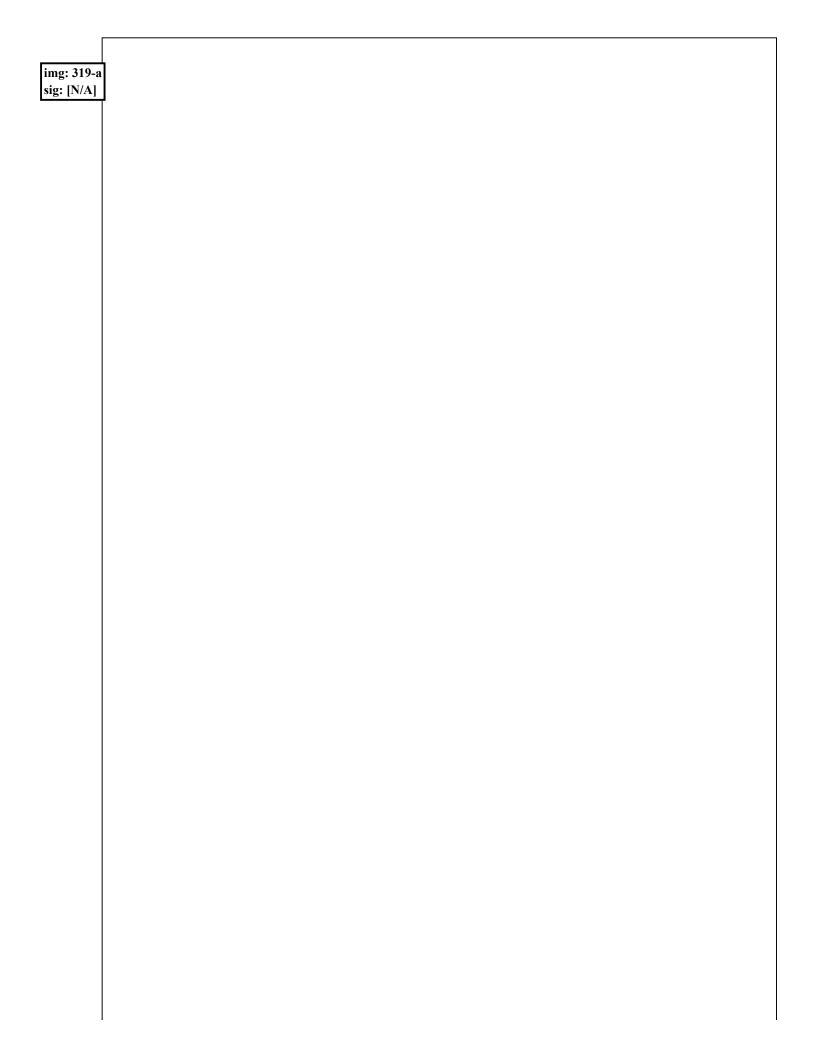

emed.folger.edu

Discover over four hundred early modern English plays that were professionally performed in London between 1576 and 1642. Browse plays written by Shakespeare's contemporaries; explore the repertoires of London's professional companies; and download plays for reading and research.

This documentary edition has been edited to provide an accurate and transparent transcription of a single copy of the earliest surviving print edition of this play. Further material, including editorial policy and XML files of the play, is available on the EMED website. EMED texts are edited and encoded by Meaghan Brown, Michael Poston, and Elizabeth Williamson, and build on work done by the EEBO-TCP and the Shakespeare His Contemporaries project. This project is funded by a Humanities Collections and Reference Resources grant from the NEH's Division of Preservation and Access.

LOVES CURE OR, The Martial Maid.

Actus Primus Scæna Prima.

column: 319-b-1

Enter Vitelli, Lamorall, Anastro.

Vitelli.

Alvarez pardon'd?

Ana. And return'd.

Lamo. I saw him land

At St. Lucars, and such a generall welcome

Fame, as harbinger to his brave actions,

Had with the easie people, prepard for him,

As if by his command alone, and fortune

Holland with those low Provinces, that hold out

Against the Arch-Duke, were again compel'd

With their obedience to give up their lives To be at his devotion.

Vit. You amaze me,
For though I have heard, that when he fled from Civill
To save his life (then forfei[*]ed to Law For murthering Don Pedro my deer Uncle)
His extreame wants inforc'd him to take pay
In th'Army sat down then before Ostena, 'Twas never yet reported, by whose favour
He durst presum to entertain a thought
Of comming home with pardon.

Ana. 'Tis our nature
Or not to hear, or not to give beliefe
To what we wish far from our enemies.

Lam. Sir 'tis most certaine the Infantas letters Assisted by the Arch-Dukes, to King Philip Have not alone secur'd him from the rigor Of our Castillian Justice, but return'd him A free man, and in grace.

Vit. By what curs'd meanes Could such a fugitive arise unto The knowledge of their highnesses? much more (Though known) to stand but in the least degree Of favour with them?

Lam. To give satisfaction
To your demand, though to praise him I hate,
Can yeild me small contentment, I will tell you,
And truly, since should I detract his worth, wln 0044 'Twould argue want of merit in my self. wln 0045 Briefly, to passe his tedious pilgrimage wln 0046 For sixteene years, a banish'd guilty-man, column: 319-b-2 wln 0047 And to forget the stormes, th'affrights, the horrors wln 0048 His constancy, not fortune overcame, wln 0049 I bring him, with his little son, grown man wln 0050 (Though 'twas said here he took a daughter with him) wln 0051 To Ostends bloody seige that stage of war wln 0052 Wherein the flower of many Nations acted, wln 0053 And the whole Christian world spectators were; wln 0054 There by his son, or were he by adoption wln 0055 Or nature his, a brave Scene was presented, wln 0056 Which I make choyce to speak of, since from that wln 0057 The good successe of Alvarez, had beginning, wln 0058 Vil. So I love vertue in an enemy wln 0059 That I desire in the relation of This young mans glorious deed, you'ld keep your self wln 0060 wln 0061 A friend to truth, and it. wln 0062 Such was my purpose; Lam wln 0063 The Town being oft assaulted, but in vaine, wln 0064 To dare the prow'd defendants to a sally, wln 0065 Weary of ease, Don Inigo Peralta wln 0066 Son to the Generall of our Castile forces wln 0067 All arm'd, advanc'd within shot of their wals, wln 0068 From whence the muskateers plaid thick upon him, wln 0069 Yet he (brave youth) as carelesse of the danger, wln 0070 As carefull of his honor, drew his sword, wln 0071 And waving it about his head, as if wln 0072 He dar'd one spirited like himself, to triall wln 0073 Of single valor, he made his retreat wln 0074 With such a slow, and yet majestique pace, wln 0075 As if he still cald low'd, dare none come on? wln 0076 When sodainly from a posterne of the town wln 0077 Two gallant horse-men issued, and o're-took him, wln 0078 The army looking on, yet not a man wln 0079 That durst relieve the rash adventurer, wln 0080 Which Lucio, son to Alvarez then seeing, wln 0081 As in the vant-guard he sat bravely mounted, wln 0082 Or were it pity of the youths misfortune, wln 0083 Care to preserve the honour of his Country, wln 0084 Or bold desire to get himselfe a name, wln 0085 He made his brave horse, like a whirle wind bear him, wln 0086 Among the Combatants: and in a moment wln 0087 Dischar'd his Petronell, with such sure aime wln 0088 That of the adverse party from his horse, wln 0089 One tumbled dead, then wheeling round, and drawing

Upon the other, and with one strong blow In view of the amazed Town, and Campe He strake him dead, and brought Peralta off With double honour to himselfe.

Vit. 'Twas brave: But the successe of this?

Lam. The Campe receiv'd him
With acclamations of joy and welcome,
And for addition to the faire reward
Being a massy chain of gold given to him
By yong Peralta's Father, he was brought To the Infantas presence kiss'd her hand,
And from that Lady, (greater in her goodnesse Then her high birth) had this encouragement
Go on youngman; yet not to feed thy valour
With hope of recompence to come, from me,
For present satisfaction of what's past, Aske any thing that's fit for me to give,
And thee to take, and be assur'd of it.

Ana. Excellent princesse.

Vit. And stil'd worthily The heart bloud, nay the soule of Souldiers. But what was his request?

Lam. That the repeale
Of Alvarez, makes plaine: he humbly begd
His Fathers pardon, and so movingly
Told the sad story of your uncles death
That the Infanta wept, and instantly Granting his suit, working the Arch-duke to it,
Their Letters were directed to the King,
With whom they so prevaild, that Alvarez
Was freely pardon'd.

Vit. 'Tis not in the King To make that good.

Ana. Not in the King? what subject Dares contradict his power?

Vit. In this I dare,

And wil: and not call his prerogative
In question, nor presume to limit it.
I know he is the Master of his Lawes,
And may forgive the forfeits made to them,
But not the injury done to my honour;
And since (forgeting my brave Uncles merits And many services, under Duke D' Alva)
He suffers him to fall, wresting from Justice
The powerfull sword, that would revenge his death,

Enter Bobadilla, and Lucio

Luc. Go fetch my work: this ruffe was not well starch'd, So tell the maid, 'thas too much blew in it, column: 320-a-2

And look you that the Partrich and the Pullen Have cleane meat, and fresh water, or my Mother Is like to hear on't.

Bob. O good Sir Iaques helpe me: was there ever such an Hermaphrodite heard of? would any wench living, that should hear and see what I do, be wrought to believe, that the best of a man lies under this Petticoate, and that a Cod-peece were far fitter here, then a pind-Placket?

Luc. You had best talk filthily: do; I have a tongue To tell my Mother, as well as ears to heare Your ribaldry.

Bob. May you have ten womens tongues that way I am sure: why my yong Mr. or Mistris, Madam, Don or what you wil, what the devill have you to do with Pullen, or Partrich? or to sit pricking on a clowt all day? you have a better needle, I know, and might make better work, if you had grace to use it.

Luc. Why, how dare you speak this before me, sirha?
Bob. Nay rather, why dare not you do what I speak?
— though my Lady your mother, for fear of Vitelli and his faction, hath brought you up like her daughter, and h'as kept you this 20 year, which is ever since you were born, a close prisoner within dores, yet since you are a man, and are as wel provided as other men are, me thinks you should have the same motions of the flesh, as other

Bob. Why, I but taught her a Spanish trick in charity, and holp the King to a subject that may live to take grave Maurice prisoner, and that was more good to the State, then a thousand such as you are ever like to do: and I wil tell you, (in a fatherly care of the Infant I speak it) if he live (as blesse the babe, in passion I remember him) to your years, shall he spend his time in pinning, painting, purling, and perfuming as you do? no, he shall to the wars, use his Spanish Pike, though with the danger of the lash, as his father has done, and when he is provoked, as I am now, draw his Toledo desperatly, as—

Luc. You will not Kill me? oh.

Bob. I knew this would silence him: how he hides his eys? If he were a wench now, as he seems, what an advantage Had I, drawing two Toledos, when one can do this? But oh me, my Lady: I must put up: young Master I did but jest. O custom, what ha'st thou made of him?

Enter Eugenia, and Servants.

Eug. For bringing this, be still my friend; no more A servant to me.

Bob. What's the matter?

Eug. Here,

Even here where I am happy to receive Assurance of my Alvarez returne, I wil kneell down: and may those holy thoughts That now possesse me wholy, make this place a Temple to me, where I may give thanks For this unhop'd for blessing Heavens Kind hand Hath pour'd upon me.

Luc. Let my duty Madam Presume, if you have cause of joy, to entreat I may share in it.

Bob. 'Tis well, he has forgot how I frighted him yet.

Eug. Thou shalt: but first kneel with me Lucio, Actus secundus. Scæna prima.

Enter Pachieco, and Lazarillo.

Boy: my Cloake, and Rapier; it fits not a Gentle-Pac. man of my ranck, to walke the streets in Querpo.

Nay, you are a very ranck Gent. Signior, I am very hungry, they tell me in Civill here, I looke like an Eele, with a mans head: and your neighbour the Smith here hard by, would have borrowed me th'other day, to have fish'd with me, because he had lost his angle-rod.

Oh happy thou Lazarillo (being the cause of other mens wits) as in thine own: live leane, and witty still: oppresse not thy stomach too much: grosse feeders, great sleepers: great sleepers, fat bodies; fat bodies, lean braines: No Lazarillo, I will make thee immortall, change thy humanitie into dietie, for I will teach thee to live upon nothing.

Faith Signior, I am immortall then already, or very neere it, for I doe live upon little or nothing: belike that's the reason the Poets are said to be immortall, for some of them live upon their wits, which is indeed as good as little or nothing: But good Master, let me be mortall still, and let's goe to supper.

Be abstinent; shew not the corruption of thy ge-Pac. neration: he that feeds, shall die, therefore he that feeds not, shall live.

Laz. I; but how long shall he live? ther's the question.

Pac. As long as he can without feeding: did'st thou read of the miraculous maid in Flanders?

No, nor of any maid else; for the miracle of virginitie now adaies ceases, ere the virgin can read virginitie?

Pac. She that liv'd three yeere without any other sustenance then the smell of a Rose.

I heard of her Signior; but they say her guts Laz. shrunck all into Lute-strings, and her neather-parts cling'd together like a Serpents Taile, so that though she continued a woman still above the girdle, beneath yet she was monster.

Pac. So are most women, beleeve it.

Laz. Nay all women Signior, that can live onely upon the smell of a Rose.

Pac. No part of the History is fabulous.

I thinke rather no part of the Fable is Histori-Laz. call: but for all this, sir, my rebellious stomach will not wln 0534 wln 0535 wln 0536 wln 0537 wln 0538 wln 0539 wln 0540 wln 0541 wln 0542 wln 0543 wln 0544 wln 0545 wln 0546 wln 0547 wln 0548 wln 0549 wln 0550 wln 0551 wln 0552 wln 0553 wln 0554 wln 0555 wln 0556 wln 0557 wln 0558 wln 0559 wln 0560 wln 0561 wln 0562 wln 0563 wln 0564 wln 0565 wln 0566 wln 0567 wln 0568 wln 0569 wln 0570 wln 0571 wln 0572 wln 0573 wln 0574 wln 0575 wln 0576 wln 0577 wln 0578 wln 0579

let me be immortall: I will be as immortall, as mortall hunger will suffer: put me to a certaine stint sir, allow me but a red herring a day.

Pac. O' dedios: would'st thou be gluttonous in thy delicacies?

Laz. He that eats nothing but a red herring a day, shall neere be broyl'd for the devils rasher: a Pilcher, Signior, a Surdiny, an Olive, that I may be a philosopher first, and immortall after.

Pac. Patience Lazarillo; let contemplation be thy food a while: I say unto thee, one Peaze was a Souldiers provant a whole day, at the destruction of Ierusalem.

Enter Metaldi, &

Mendoza.

Laz. I; and it were any where, but at the destruction of a place i'le be hang'd.

Met. Signior Pachieco Alasto, my most ingenious Cobler of Civill, the bonos noxios to your Signiorie.

Pac. Signior Metaldi de forgio, my most famous Smith, and man of mettle, I returne your curtesie ten fold, and do humble my Bonnet beneath the Shooe-soale of your congie: the like to you Signior Mendoza Pediculo de vermim, my most exquisite Hose-heeler.

Laz. Her's a greeting betwixt a Cobler, a Smith, and a Botcher: they all belong to the foot, which makes them stand so much upon their Gentrie.

Mend. Signior Lazarillo.

Laz. Ah Signior see: nay, we are all Signiors here in Spaine, from the Jakes-farmer to the Grandee, or Adelantado: this botcher looks as if he w're dowgh-bak'd a little butter now, and I could eate him like an oatencake: his fathers diet was new Cheese and Onions when he got him: what a scallion fac'd-rascall 'tis?

Met. But why Signior Pachieco, do you stand so much on the prioritie, and antiquitie of your qualitie (as you call it) in comparison of ours?

Mend. I; your reason for that.

Pac. Why thou Iron-pated Smith: and thou wollen witted Hose heeler: heare what I will speak indifferently (and according to Ancient writers) of our three professions: and let the upright Lazarillo be both judge, and moderator. (may be.

Laz. Still am I the most immortally hungrie, that

Pac. Suppose thou wilt derive thy pedigree, like some of the old Heroes, (as Hercules, Æeas, Achilles) lineally from the Gods, making Saturne thy great Grand-father, and Vulcan thy Father: Vulcan was a God.

Laz. He'll make Vulcan your God-father by and by.

Pac. Yet I say Saturne was a crabbed block-head, and Vulgan a limping horn-head, for Venus his wife was a strumpet, and Mars begat all her Children; therefore however, thy original must of necessitie spring from Bastardie: further, what can be a more deject spirit in man, then to lay his hands under every ones horses feet, to doe him service, as thou do'st? For thee, I will be briefe thou do'st botch, and not mend, thou art a hider of enormities, viz. scabs, chilblaines, and kibed heeles: much proane thou art to Sects, and Heresies, disturbing state, and government; for how canst thou be a sound member in the Common-wealth, that art so subject to stitches in the anckles? blush, and be silent then. Oh ve Machanick, compare no more with the politique Cobler: For Coblers (in old time) have prophesied, what may they doe now then, that have every day waxed better, and better? have we not the length of every mans foot? are we not daily menders? yea, and what menders? not horse-menders.

Laz. Nor manners-menders.

Pach. But soule-menders: Oh divine Coblers; doe we not like the wise man spin our own threds, (or our wives for us?) doe we not by our sowing the hide, reape the beefe? are not we of the gentle craft, whil'st both you are but crafts-men? You will say you feare neither Iron nor steele, and what you get is wrought out of the fire, I must answer you againe, though all this is but forgery, You may likewise say, a mans a man, that has but a hose on his head: I must likewise answer, that man is a botcher, that has a heel'd-hose on his head: to conclude there can be no comparison with the Cobler, who is all in all in the Common-wealth, has his politique eye and ends on every mans steps that walkes, and whose course shall be lasting to the worlds end.

Net. I give place: the wit of man is wonderfull: thou hast hit the naile on the head, and I will give thee six pots for't though I neere clinth shooe againe.

Met. The other side Serjeant.

Mend. That's both sides carrion I am sure.

Pac. This is he apprehends whores in the way of justice, and lodges 'em in his own house, in the way of profit: he with him, is the Grand-Don Vitelli, 'twixt whom and Fernando Alvarez the mortall hatred is: he is indeed my Dons Bawd, and do's at this present lodge a famous Curtizan of his, lately come from Madrill.

Vit. Let her want nothing Signior, she can aske: What losse, or injury you may sustaine I will repaire, and recompence your love: Onely that fellowes coming I mislike, And did fore-warn her of him: beare her this With my best love, at night i'le visit her.

Vit. Good ev'n, Signiors:

Alg. I know you not: what are ye? hence ye base Besegnios.

Pac. Mary Catzo Signior Alguazier, do'ye not know us? why, we are your honest neighbours, the Cobler, Smith, and Botcher, that have so often sate snoaring cheeke by joll with your signiorie in rug at midnight.

Laz. Nay, good Signior, be not angry: you must understand, a Cat and such an Officer see best in the dark.

Met. By this hand, I could finde in my heart to shooe his head.

Pac. Why then know you Signior; thou mongrill begot at midnight, at the Goale gate, by a Beadle, on a Catch-poles wife, are not you he that was whipt out, of Toledo for perjury.

Men. Next, condemn'd to the Gallies for pilfery, to the buls pizell.

Alg. Diabolo: they'll raile me into the Gallyes again.

Pac. Yes Signior, thou art even he we speake of all this while: thou maist by thy place now, lay us by the heeles: 'tis true: but take heed, be wiser, pluck not ruine on thine own head: for never was there such an Anatomy, as we shall make thee then: be wise therefore, Oh thou Childe of the night! be friends and shake hands, thou art a proper man, if thy beard were redder: remember thy worshipfull function, a Constable though thou turn'st day into night, and night into day, what of that? watch lesse, and pray more: gird thy beares skin (viz. thy Rug-gowne) to thy loyes, take thy staffe in thy hand, and goe forth at midnight: Let not thy mittens abate the talons of thy authority, but gripe theft and whoredom, wheresoever thou meet'st 'em: bear'em away like a tempest, and lodge 'em safely in thine own house:

Laz. Would you have whores and theeves lodg'd in such a house?

Pac. They ever doe so: I have found a theefe, or a whore there, when the whole Suburbs could not furnish me.

for a scar-crow: As I am Vitelli, I am satisfied but as I am Bobadilla Spindola Zancho, Steward of the house, and thy fathers servant, I could finde in my heart to lop of the hinder part of thy face, or to beat all thy teeth into thy mouth: Oh thou whay-blooded milk-sop, Ile waite upon thee no longer, thou shalt ev'n waite upon me: come your wayes sir, I shall take a little paines with ye else.

Enter Clara.

Bob. Because womens hanches onely are most subject to display and fly out.

Cla. Bobadilla, rogue, ten Duckets, I hit the prepuse of thy Cod-peicu.

Luc. Hold, if you love my life, Sister: I am not Zancho Bobadilla, I am your brother Lucio: what a fright you have put me in?

column: 322-b-2

Cla. Brother? and wherefore thus?

Luc. Why, Master Steward here, Signior Zancho, made me change: he do's nothing but misuse me, and call me Cowheard, and sweares I shall waite upon him.

Well: I doe no more then I have authority for: Bob.would I were away though: for she's as much too mannish, as he too womanish: I dare not meddle with her, yet I must set a good face on't (if I had it) I have like charge of you Maddam, I am as well to mollifie you, as to qualifie him: what have you to doe with Armors, and Pistols, and Javelins, and swords, and such tooles? remember Mistresse; nature hath given you a sheath onely, to signifie women are to put up mens weapons, not to draw them: looke you now, it this a fit trot for a Gentlewoman? You shall see the Court Ladies move like Goddesses, as if they trod ayre; they will swim you their measures, like whiting-mops as if their feet were finnes, and the hinges of their knees oyld: doe they love to ride great horses, as you doe? no, they love to ride great asses sooner: faith, I know not what to say to'ye both: Custome hath turn'd nature topsie-turvy in you.

Cla. Nay but Master Steward.

Bob. You cannot trot so fast, but he ambles as slowly.

wln 1246	Is my cuz stirring yet?
wln 1247	Alg. Your cuz (good cosen?)
wln 1248	A whore is like a foole, akin to all wln 1249	The gallants in the Town: Your coz, good Signior, wln 1250	Is gone abroad sir, with her other cosen, wln 1251	My Lord Vitelli : since when there hath been wln 1252	Some dozen cosens here to enquire for her.
wln 1253	Pio. She's greatly alli'd sir.
wln 1254	Alg. Marry is she sir, wln 1255	Come of a lusty kindred: the truth is,
wln 1256	I must connive no more: no more admittance wln 1257	Must I consent to; my good Lord has threatned me, wln 1258	And you must pardon.
wln 1259	Pio. Out upon thee man, wln 1260	Turne honest in thine age? one foot ith' grave?
wln 1261	Thou shalt not wrong thy selfe so, for a million:
wln 1262	Looke, thou three-headed Cerberus (for wit wln 1263	I mean) here is one sop, and two, and three,
wln 1264	For every chop a hit.
wln 1265	Alg. I marry sir:
wln 1266	Wel, the poore heart loves you but too wel.
wln 1267	We have been talking on you 'faith this houre:
wln 1268	Where, what I said, goe too: she loves your valour;
wln 1269	Oh and your Musicke most abominably:
wln 1270	She is within sir, and alone: what meane you?
wln 1271	Pio That is your Sergeants side, I take it sir;
wln 1272	Now I endure your Constables much better;
wln 1273	There is lesse danger in't: for one you know
wln 1274	Is a tame harmlesse monster in the light, wln 1275	The Sergeant salvage both by day, and night.
wln 1276	Alg. Ile call her to you for that.

wln 1278	Alg. She's come.
wln 1279	Pio. My Spirit.
wln 1280	Mal. Oh my Sweet,
wln 1281	Leape hearts to lips, and in our kisses meet.
wln 1282	Pio. Turn, turn thy beauteous face away,	Song.
wln 1283	How pale and sickly look's the day,
wln 1284	In emulation of thy brighter beams?
wln 1285	Oh envious light, flv, fly, be gone,
wln 1286	Come night, and peece two breasts as one;

Mal. 'Twas this I fish'd for Vit. Look on me, and receive it.

Mal. Well, you know My gentle nature, and take pride t'abuse it:

You see a trifle pleases me, we are friends;

Be better temper'd: Ile pay as a forfeit

For my rash anger, this purse fil'd with Gold.

Thou shalt have servants, gownes, attires, what not?

This kisse, and this confirmes it.

Cla. With my ruine.

Mal. I'le have this dyamond; and this pearle.

Vit. They are yours.

Mal. But wil you not, when you have what you came

Take them from me to morrow? tis a fashion

(10

Your Lords of late have us'd.

Vit. But Ile not follow.

Cla. That any man at such a rate as this Should pay for his repentance.

Vit. Shall we to bed now?

Mal. Instantly, Sweet: yet now I think on't better

Ther's something first that in a word or two

I must acquaint you with.

Cla. Can I cry ayme,

To this against my selfe? Ile break this match,

Or make it stronger with my bloud.

Descends.

Enter Alguazier, Piorato, Pachieco, Metaldi, Mendoza, Lazarillo, &c.

Alg. I am yours,

A Don's not priviledgd here more then yourself,

Win her, and weare her.

Pio. Have you a Priest ready?

Alg. I have him for thee, Lad; and when I have Married this scornefull whore to this poor gallant.

She wil make suit to me; there is a trick

To bring a high-priz'd wench upon her knees:

For you my fine neat Harpyes stretch your tallons

And prove your selves true night-Birds.

Pach. Take my word

For me and all the rest.

Laz. If there be meat

Or any banquet stirring, you shall see

How ile bestow my selfe.

Alg. When they are drawn, wln 1859	Rush in upon 'em: al's faire prize you light on:

wln 1860	I must away: your officer may give way
wln 1861	To the Knavery of his watch, but must not see it.
wln 1862	You all know where to finde me. Exit.
wln 1863	Met. There look for us.
wln 1864	Vit. Who's that?
wln 1865	Mal. My Piorato, welcome, welcome:
wln 1866	Faith had you not come when you did, my Lord
wln 1867	Had done I know not what to me.
wln 1868	Vit. I am gul'd, wln 1869	First cheated of my Jewels, and then laugh'd at:
wln 1870	Sirha, what make you here?
wln 1871	Pio. A businesse brings me, wln 1872	More lawfull then your own,
wln 1873	Vit. How's that, you slave?
wln 1874	Mal. He's such, that would continue his a whore wln 1875	Whom he would make a wife of.
wln 1876	Violin he would make a write of: Vit. Ile trea'd upon wln 1877	The face you doat on, strumpet.
wln 1878	Enter Clara.
wln 1879	Pach. Keep the peace there.
wln 1880	Vit. A plot upon my life too?
	vii. A plot upon my me too!

wln 1881	Met. Down with him.
wln 1882	Cla. Show your old valour, and learn from a woman, wln 1883	One Eagle has a world of odds against wln 1884	A flight of Dawes, as these are.
wln 1885	Pio. Get you off, wln 1886	Ile follow instantly.
wln 1887	Pach. Run for more help there. Exeunt all but Vit. and wln 1888	Vit. Losse of my gold, & jewels, & the wench too Clara.
wln 1889	Afflicts me not so much, as th'having Clara
wln 1890	The witnesse of my weaknesse.
wln 1891	Cla. He turns from me, wln 1892	And yet I may urge merit, since his life
wln 1893	Is made my second gift.
wln 1894	Vit. May I ne'r prosper wln 1895	If I know how to thank her.
wln 1896	Cla. Sir, your pa[*]don wln 1897	For pressing thus beyond a Virgins bounds wln 1898	Upon your privacies: and let my being wln 1899	Like to a man, as you are, be th'excuse wln 1900	Of my solliciting that from you, which shall not wln 1901	Be granted on my part, although desir'd
wln 1902	By any other: sir, you understand me, wln 1903	And 'twould shew nobly in you, to prevent wln 1904	From me a farther boldnesse, which I must wln 1905	Proceed in, if you prove not mercifull, wln 1906	Though with my losse of blushes, and good name.
	Though with my 10000 of olubhes, and good fame.

wln 1907	Vit. Madam, I know your wil, and would be thankfull wln 1908	If it were possible I could affect wln 1909	The Daughter of an enemy.
wln 1910	Cla. That faire false one wln 1911	Whom with fond dotage you have long pursu'd wln 1912	Had such a father: she to whom you pay wln 1913	Deerer for your dishonour, then all titles
wln 1914	Ambitious men hunt for are worth.
wln 1915	Vit. 'Tis truth.
wln 1916	Cla. Yet, with her, as a friend you still exchange wln 1917	Health for diseases, and to your disgrace
wln 1918	Nourish the rivals to your present pleasures, wln 1919	At your own charge, us'd as a property
wln 1920	To give a safe protection to her lust, wln 1921	Yet share in nothing but the shame of it.
wln 1922	Vit. Grant all this so, to take you for a wife wln 1923	Were greater hazard, for should I offend you wln 1924	(As tis not easy still to please a woman) wln 1925	You are of so great a spirit, that I must learn wln 1926	To weare your petticoat, for you wil have wln 1927	My breeches from me.
wln 1928	Cla. Rather from this houre wln 1929	I here abjure all actions of a man, wln 1930	And wil esteem it happinesse from you
wln 1931	To suffer like a woman: love, true love
wln 1932	Hath made a search within me, and expel'd
wln 1933	All but my naturall softnesse, and made perfect
wln 1934	That which my parents care could not begin.
wln 1935	I wil show strength in nothing, but my duty, wln 1936	And glad desire to please you, and in that wln 1937	Grow every day more able.
wln 1938	Vit. Could this be,
wln 1939	What a brave race might I beget? I finde wln 1940	A kind of yeelding; and no reason why wln 1941	I should hold longer out: she's yong, and faire, wln 1942	And chast for sure, but with her leave the Devil wln 1943	Durst not attempt her: Madam, though you have wln 1944	A Souldiers arme, your lips appear as if wln 1945	They were a Ladies.
wln 1946	Cla. They dare sir from you wln 1947	Endure the tryall.
wln 1948	Vit. Ha: once more I pray you:

wln 2056	Pach. And now steale off wln 2057	Closely, and cunningly.
wln 2058	An. How? have I found you?
wln 2059	Why Gentlemen, are you madde, to make your selves
wln 2060	A prey to Rogues?
wln 2061	Lam. Would we were off.
wln 2062	Bob. Theeves, theeves.
wln 2063	Lam. Defer our own contention: and down with them.
wln 2064	Luc. Ile make you sure.
wln 2065	Bob. Now he playes the Devil.	_
wln 2066	Gen. This place is not for me.	Exit.
wln 2067	Luc. Ile follow her	.
wln 2068	Half of my pennance is past ore.	Exit.

wln 2226	Rous'd sleeping manhood in me, thy new creature, wln 2227 wln 2228	Perfect thy worke so that I may make known win 2228 wln 2229	Nature (though long kept back) wil have her owne. Exeunt.
	Excuit.
wln 2230	Actus Quintus. Scæna prima.
1 2221
wln 2231	Enter Lamorall and Lucio.
wln 2232	Lam. Can it be possible, that in six short houres wln 2233	The subject still the same, so many habits wln 2234	Should be remov'd? or this new Lucio , he wln 2235	That yesternight was baffeld and disgrac'd, wln 2236	And thankt the man that did it, that then kneeld
wln 2237	And blubberd like a woman, should now dare wln 2238	One terme of honour seeke reparation wln 2239	For what he then appear'd not capable of?
wln 2240	Luc. Such miracles, men that dare doe injuries wln 2241	Live to their shames to see, and for punishment
wln 2242	And scourge to their proud follies.
wln 2243	Lam. Prethee leave me:
wln 2244	Had I my Page, or foot-man here to flesh thee,
wln 2245	I durst the better heare thee.
wln 2246	Luc. This scorn needs not:
wln 2247	And offer such no more.

wln 2248 Lam. Why say I should, wln 2249 You'l not be angry? wln 2250 Luc. Indeed I think I shal, wln 2251 Would you vouchsafe to shew your selfe a Captaine, wln 2252 And lead a little further, to some place wln 2253 That's lesse frequented. wln 2254 Lam. He looks pale. wln 2255 Luc. If not, wln 2256 Make use of this. wln 2257 There's anger in his eyes too: Lam. wln 2258 His gesture, voyce, behaviour, all new fashion'd; wln 2259 Wel, if it does endure in act the triall wln 2260 Of what in show it promises to make good, wln 2261 Ulysses Cyclops, Io's transformation, wln 2262 Eurydice fetcht from Hell, with all the rest wln 2263 Of Ovids Fables, ile put in your Creed; wln 2264 And for proofe, all incredible things may be wln 2265 Writ down that Lucio, the coward Lucio, wln 2266 The womanish Lucio fought. column: 328-a-2 wln 2267 Luc. and Lamorall, wln 2268 The stil imployd great duellist Lamorall. wln 2269 Took his life from him. wln 2270 Twill not come to that sure: Lam. wln 2271 Methinks the onely drawing of my Sword wln 2272 Should fright that confidence. wln 2273 It confirmes it rather. Luc. wln 2274 To make which good, know you stand now oppos'd wln 2275 By one that is your Rivall, one that wishes wln 2276 Your name and title greater, to raise his; wln 2277 The wrong you did, lesse pardonable then it is, wln 2278 But your strength to defend it, more then ever wln 2279 It was when justice friended it. The Lady wln 2280 For whom we now contend, Genevora wln 2281 Of more desert, (if such incomparable beauty wln 2282 Could suffer an addition) your love wln 2283 To Don Vitelli multipli'd, and your hate Against my father and his house increas'd; wln 2284 wln 2285 And lastly, that the Glove which you there wear, wln 2286 To my dishonour, (which I must force from you) wln 2287 Were deerer to you then your life. wln 2288 Lam. You'l finde wln 2289 It is, and so ile guard it: wln 2290 All these meet then wln 2291 With the black infamy, to be fould by one wln 2292 That's not allowd a man: to help your valour, wln 2293 That falling by your hand, I may, or die, wln 2294 Or win in this one single opposition wln 2295 My Mistris, and such honour as I may wln 2296	Inrich my fathers Armes with.

wln 2297	Lam. Tis said Nobly;
wln 2298	My life with them are at the stake.
wln 2299	Luc. At all then.	Fight.
wln 2300	Lam. She's yours: this, and my life, to follow your for-	C wln 2301	And give not onely back that part the looser (tune; wln 2302	Scorns to accept of — wln 2303	Luc. What's that?
wln 2304	Lam. My poor life,
wln 2305	Which do not leave me as a further torment,
wln 2306	Having dispoild me of my Sword, mine honour, wln 2307	Hope of my Ladies grace, fame, and all else
wln 2308	That made it worth the keeping.
wln 2309	Luc. I take back wln 2310	No more from you, then what you forc'd from me;
wln 2311	And with a worser title: yet think not wln 2312	That Ile dispute this, as made insolent wln 2313	By my successe, but as one equall with you, wln 2314	If so you wil accept me; that new courage, wln 2315	Or call it fortune if you please, that is wln 2316	Confer'd upon me by the onely sight
wln 2317	Of fair Genevora , was not bestow'd on me
wln 2318	To bloody purposes: nor did her command wln 2319	Deprive me of the happinesse to see her wln 2320	But till I did redeem her favour from you;
wln 2321	Which onely I rejoyce in, and share with you
wln 2322	In all you suffer else.
wln 2323	Lam. This curtesie
wln 2324	Wounds deeper then your Sword can, or mine owne;
wln 2325	Pray you make use of either, and dispatch me.
wln 2326	Luc. The barbarous Turke is satisfied with spoile;
wln 2327	And shall I, being possest of what I came for,
wln 2328	Prove the more Infidell?
wln 2329	Lam. You were better be so, wln 2330	Then publish my disgrace, as tis the custome, wln 2331	And which I must expect.
wln 2332	Luc. Judge better on me:
wln 2333	I have no tongue to trumpet mine owne praise
wln 2334	To your dishonour: tis a bastard courage

If you imbrace it, doe; If not, Ile seeke some other. Lam. As I am You may command me. Vit. Spoke like that true friend That loves not onely for his private end.	Exeunt.
wln 2392	Scæna secunda.
wln 2393	Enter Genevora with a Letter and Bobadilla.
wln 2394	Gen. This from Madona Clara?
wln 2395	Bob. Yes, and 't please you.
wln 2396	Gen. Alvarez daughter?
wln 2397	Bob. The same, Lady.

wln 2398	Gen. She,
wln 2399	That sav'd my brothers life?
wln 2400	Bob. You are still in the right, wln 2401	She wil'd me wait your walking forth: and knowing wln 2402	How necessary a discreet wise man wln 2403	Was in a businesse of such weight, she pleas'd wln 2404	To think on me: it may be in my face
wln 2405	Your Ladiship not acquainted with my wisdome wln 2406	Finds no such matter: what I am, I am;
wln 2407	Thought's free: and think you what you please.
wln 2408	Gen. Tis strange,
wln 2409	Bob. That I should be wise, Madam?
wln 2410	Gen. No, thou art so;
wln 2411	There's for thy paines: and prethee tell thy Lady wln 2412	I wil not faile to meet her: Ile receive wln 2413	Thy thanks and duty in thy present absence:	F . D 1 wln 2414	Farewell, farewel, I say, now thou art wise.	Exit Bob.
wln 2415	She writes here, she hath something to impart wln 2416	That may concerne my brothers life; I know not,
wln 2417 wln 2418	But generall fame does give her out so worthy,

wln 2420 wln 2427	The sorrow paid for your just anger towards me win 2427 wln 2428	Arising from my weaknesse, I presume win 2426 wln 2429	To presse into your presence, and dispaire not wln 2429 wln 2430	An easie pardon.
wln 2430 wln 2431	Gen. He speaks sence: oh strange.
wln 2431 wln 2432	Luc. And yet believe, that no desire of mine, wln 2432 wln 2433	Though all are too strong in me, had the power wln 2433 wln 2434	For their delight, to force me to infringe wln 2434 wln 2435	What you commanded, it being in your part wln 2435 wln 2436	To lessen your great rigour when you please, wln 2430 wln 2437	And mine to suffer with an humble patience
wln 2437 wln 2438	What you'l impose upon it.
wln 2439	Gen. Courtly too.
wln 2439 wln 2440	Luc. Yet hath the poore, and contemn'd Lucio, Madam, win 2440 wln 2441	(Made able onely by his hope to serve you) win 2441 wln 2442	Recover'd what with violence, not justice, wln 2442 wln 2443	Was taken from him: and here at your feet win 2443 wln 2444	With these, he could have laid the conquer'd head win 2444 wln 2445	Of Lamorall (tis all I say of him) win 2445 wln 2446	For rudely touching that, which as a relique

wln 2449 wln 2450	Luc. All that's good in me, wln 2450 wln 2451	That heavenly love, the opposite to base lust, wln 2451	Which being have all men worthy, hath created;
wln 2452 wln 2453	Which being by your beames of beauty form'd, wln 2454	Cherish as your own creature.
wln 2454 wln 2455	Gen. I am gone wln 2456	Too far now to dissemble: rise, or sure wln 2450 wln 2457	I must kneele with you too: let this one kisse Speake the rest for me: tis too much I doe, wln 2458
wln 2459	And yet, if chastity would, I could wish more. Luc. In overjoying me, you are grown sad;
wln 2460
wln 2461	What is it Madam? by — There's nothing that's within my nerves (and yet wln 2462	Favour'd by you, I should as much as man) wln 2463	But when you please, now or on all occasions wln 2464	You can think of hereafter, but you may

There is a Sister: long divided streames Mix now at length, by fate.

Bob.I am not regarded: I was the carefull Steward that provided these Instruments of peace, I put the longest weapon in your Sisters hand, (my Lord) because she was the shortest Lady: For likely the shortest Ladies, love the longest — men: And for mine own part, I could have discharged it: my Pistoll is no ordinary Pistoll, it has two ramming Bullets; but thought I, why should I shoot my two bullets into my old Lady? if they had gon, I would not have staid long after: I would ev'n have died too, bravely y'faith, like a Roman-Steward: hung my self in mine owne Chaine; and there had been a story of Bobadilla, Spindola, Zancho, for after ages to lament: hum: I perceive I am not onely not regarded, but also not rewarded.

Prethee peace: 'shalt have a new chaine, next Alv. Saint Iaques day, or this new gilt:

I am satisfied: let vertue have her due: And yet i am melancholy upon this atonement: pray heaven the State rue it not: I would my Lord Vitellies Steward, and I could meet: they should finde it should cost 'em a little more to make us friends: well, I will forsweare wine, and women for a yeere: and then I will be drunk to morrow, and runne a whoring like a dogge with a broken bottle at's taile; then will I repent next day, and forsweare 'em againe more vehemently: be for-sworne next day againe, and repent my repentance: for thus a melancholy Gentleman doth, and ought to live.

Nay, you shall dine with me: and afterward Ile with 'ye to the King: But first, I will Dispatch the Castles businesse, that this day May be compleat. Bring forth the malefactors. You Alguazier, the Ringleader of these Poore fellowes, are degraded from your office, You must restore all stolne goods you receiv'd, And watch a twelve moneth without any pay: This, if you faile of, (all your goods confiscate)

STatues and Pictures challenge price and fame; If they can justly boast, and prove they came From Phidias or Apelles. None deny, Poets and Painters hold a sympathy; Yet their workes may decay and lose their grace, Receiving blemish in their limbs or face. When the minds art has this preheminence, She still retaineth her first excellence. Then why should not this deere peece be esteem'd Child to the richest fancies that ere teem'd? When not their meanest off-spring, that came forth, But bore the image of their fathers worth. Beaumonts, and Fletchers, whose desert outwayes The best applause, and their least sprig of Bayes Is worthy Phæbus; and who comes to gather Their fruits of wit, he shall not rob the treasure. Nor can you ever surfeit of the plenty, Nor can you call them rare, though they be dainty. The more you take, the more you do them right, And wee will thanke you for your own delight.

Queene of Corinth.
